Joseph Chee Chang

Ph.D.

Language Technologies Institute School of Computer Science Carnegie Mellon University

I am graduating and currently looking for industry research opportunities.

I am interested in how people explore and synthesize unfamiliar information in complex decision-making scenarios such as exploratory search and data analysis. For this, I apply machine learning and interaction techniques to build and study end-user and crowd-sourcing systems with novel interfaces.

My research is supported by Google, Bosch, Yahoo, ONR, and NSF.
